DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed February 23, 2004 has been received and entered.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. Applicant's prior art citation filed February 23, 2004 has been received, considered and placed of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 7-12 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kluegl (U.S. Patent No. 6,561,435).

Kluegl teaches a fuel injector comprising a nozzle body (see Fig. 1) and at least one retaining flange (5) situated on the nozzle body and projecting radially. The flange has a working surface for a hold-down device and a seating surface for positioning on a cylinder head of the engine (col. 3, lines 09-22). The retaining flange includes a cylindrical retaining flange (see Fig. 1) and is joined to the nozzle body in one of an integral (i.e. welding, molding and etc.) and a friction-locking manner (see Fig.1). Further, the retaining flanges cover an angular range of about 45 degrees in a peripheral direction. Kluegl teaches a retaining flange (as mentioned above), but Kluegl does not mention specifically the retaining flange extending over only a portion of a perimeter of the fuel injector. It would have been obvious to one skilled artisan in the art to modify the teachings of Kluegl to have at least one retaining flange extending over only a portion of a perimeter of the fuel injector so that the entire injector is pressed axially downward into a corresponding receiving bore in the cylinder head of the internal combustion engine, and having at least one retaining flange extending over only a portion of a perimeter of the fuel injector to reduce the manufacturing cost of the fuel injector.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed February 23, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments have been addressed in the above paragraphs.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
